Cognac Le Riviseur is owned by Francis Abécassis, the owner of Cognac Leyrat and ABK6. It is a single estate Cognac from the Petite Champagne region. Abécassis states, 'I am convinced that blending eaux de vie coming from a Single Estate gives the Cognac inimitable character and depth. To extract the fruit of my terroirs, I have decided to master each step of production on our estates. This is why I have built a highly qualified team whose members fulfill their tasks with the required skills, care and love.' Cognac Le Riviseur comes exclusively from the Domaine du Maine Drilhon, a 60 hectare estate in the heart of the Petite

Champagne region. Every step of production is carried out on the estate to guarantee quality; it is at this unique vineyard that Cognac Le Reviseur is produced: from grapes to wine, followed by double distillation and ageing, and finally to blending and bottling. Characteristic fruitiness allied with exceptional roundness make Le Reviseur a product both classical and particularly attractive. It is a Cognac that is very well-known in Scandinavia and Eastern Europe. The Cognac Le Riviseur VSOP is old gold in colour with amber tints. It has a fruity and elegant nose with a touch of spice. The nose evolves into oaky and grilled notes with more pronounced walnut shells. The palate is full with a pleasant, elegant and clean finish.
